What is this book?

It is a collection of pieces of concrete memories in the form of images and texts, which I call, Art, collectively.

Most pieces have a title, and the majority have a brief description.

Some may come in the form of Title [Series].

My art philosophy is that of three terms (and an additional one):

- Uniformity
- Integrity
- Focus
- *(Ordered) Chaos[1]

[1] (Ordered) chaos is a necessary intermediate stage for materializing imaginations

Heavily Minimal[2]

Receipt of the purchase of a cast iron pan in a kitchenware wholesale, striking a stark contrast to the stuffed and chaotic store

[2] This is the key piece that inspired most of my other pieces all that about friends and connections. You see, I've heard of a man whose friend had been imprisoned and who slept on the floor of his room every night in order not to enjoy a comfort of which his friend had been deprived. Who, cher monsieur, will sleep on the floor for

Suburban Winter

Suburban Snow Day

Lost then Found

They dropped out of my jacket pocket before the snowstorm while I was locking my bike. I went searching all over the place outside of the house in the over-one-foot-high snow the next day after realizing they were missing, to no avail

A month later after snow thawed, they reemerged, right on the entryway on the deck to the yard where I locked my bike

After school

Pest Control

These bastards and/or others (fly excluded) caused me severe rashes several times
